

LOGAN Center is proud to be one of seven local non-profit agencies to partner with the University of Notre Dame's Center for Social Concerns in their Community-Engaged Learning. Through this partnership, a LOGAN employee serves as a Community-Engaged Learning Coordinator and participates in a learning community with other CELCs and academic community engagement professionals at the CSC to deepen shared understanding of how to create successful placements and projects for community-engaged learning.

Past projects include a partnership with a Notre Dame Business Marketing course where the Notre Dame students applied and received a grant to support LOGAN with a semester of strategic marketing support by creating and implementing a social media strategy supporting LOGAN goals.
